Readmission for Engineering Students Not in Good Standing

Readmission is at the discretion of the Engineering Associate Dean for Undergraduate Studies. Dismissed students will not be eligible for readmission until one year after the end of the most recently completed quarter.

All students who leave the university not in good standing must:
- Earn a C- or better grade in all courses taken after leaving UC Davis
- Earn 3.1 or better overall GPA
- Make up any Minimum Progress deficit
- Satisfy additional requirements determined by the Engineering Undergraduate Office

In addition lower division students must:
- Earn a 3.1 or better GPA in all remaining lower division courses required for the major or listed in the readmission expectations

Note the following:
- If you plan to repeat a course, consult with the Engineering Undergraduate Office; repeat grades will only be considered in rare instances.
- If you plan to continue in engineering, please consult with the Engineering Undergraduate Office regarding the necessary courses in which to enroll.
- If you plan to change majors, you must complete the remaining lower division requirements for the intended major. Meet with an advisor from your intended major and complete the Pass-Through process (contact the Engineering Undergraduate Office) to ensure that you receive the proper advising about courses in which to enroll.

For students who are dismissed or withdraw while not in good standing for Minimum Progress only, you may apply to return after clearing your minimum progress deficit.
